

Mentor Collab

A No-Cost Network
Professional Learning Series
for New Educator Mentors

New Educator Mentors, Instructional Coaches and Educators leading peers in professional growth – you are invited to delve into the Mentor Collaborative (with Lori Cohen & Bianca Espinosa!)

Together, we will focus on accountability, conditions for safety & belonging, as well as spaces that are generative and collaborative. You will have the opportunity to learn about responsive, growth-oriented approaches to equity-centered mentoring, to build & deepen skills in facilitating dialogue, and to collaborate with educators in our region around research-informed practices that best meet the needs of the educators you work with.

This series is designed for educators in service as Mentors, Peer Coaches, or Instructional Coaches from Multnomah County or Clackamas County Public Schools.

"There is a lot left to learn, including concepts such as adult Learning theory; I'm leaving with many tools & a playbook! And reading material to support my continued mentoring journey; learning is better when it is light hearted ... thank you Lori & Bianca; exposure to the design cycle & how to utilize it with future mentees" - Mentor Collab Participant
